

Carrington Coleman's Commitment To Our Clients

---

March 18, 2020

---

(Last updated March 18, 2020)

During this challenging and unsettling time, we want to reassure you that Carrington Coleman is here to help you and ready to respond to any legal needs you might have.

The health and well-being of our attorneys, staff, clients, and their families — and our community as a whole — is of the utmost importance to our firm.

We want you to know:

- Our attorneys and staff are able to work outside the office in a secure environment, and we will be able to provide the high level of legal services you expect and deserve on an ongoing basis;
- In accordance with the CDC's COVID-19 event guidance, we are postponing all firm events scheduled in the next eight weeks.
- We will continue to monitor legislation, executive orders, and court orders that impact our clients and their legal matters. We will send alerts periodically to keep our clients apprised of potential legal issues that arise from the pandemic.
- We are following best practices to avoid the spread of infection to our attorneys and staff.

Our attorneys will continue to be accessible via e-mail and phone. They will also be available for teleconference/videoconference meetings. All attorney contact information is available on their bios.

If you have any additional concerns regarding Carrington Coleman's COVID-19 preparedness, please feel free to reach out to me.

We wish that you, your staff and colleagues, and your families are able to stay in good health and good spirits in these difficult times.

Bruce Collins, Managing Partner

