I'm a fast learner with a strong and focused commitment to working hard and performing my work very well. When I receive feedback, I take it to heart, ask a lot of questions and use the information to improve my performance. My clients find me to be positive, easy to work with, and collaborative.

Bringing to her practice a deep understanding of both legal and business issues, Kylie Jennings handles corporate, tax structuring, and transactional matters. She contributes her skills to mergers and acquisitions and drafts loan documents and other papers necessary to the lending process. Most of the clients she serves are based in Texas, but some are located elsewhere in the United States.

While in law school, Kylie held positions within in-house legal departments in a wide variety of industries, including oil and gas, auto finance, and retail. The experience helped her adopt a more business-minded perspective. She understands that, first and foremost, clients want solutions that further their commercial interests and financial goals.

With excellent writing skills, Kylie always calibrates her communications to the length, complexity, and information format favored by her clients. She savors the intellectual challenge of drafting agreements and other documents using language that works for all involved parties. Kylie enjoys being involved in mergers and acquisitions and other deals. She finds it gratifying to play a role in transactions that make a significant impact on the fortunes of businesses.
